

Flood Insurance

In 1968, the federal government created the National Flood insurance Program (NFIP). This program provides flood insurance at a reduced cost in exchange for the careful management of flood prone communities. The City of Corning participates in this program. The City's compliance is managed by the Code Enforcement Officer.

According to the Federal Emergency Management Agency:

"The National Flood Insurance Program aims to reduce the impact of flooding on private and public structures. It does so by providing affordable insurance to property owners, renters and businesses and by encouraging communities to adopt and enforce floodplain management regulations. These efforts help mitigate the effects of flooding on new and improved structures. Overall, the program reduces the socio-economic impact of disasters by promoting the purchase and retention of general risk insurance, but also of flood insurance, specifically."
